

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a process for producing an antibody, with the use of a nonhuman animal that develops autoimmune disease, against a protein having amino acid sequences that are highly homologous in such nonhuman animal and a human. More particularly, this invention relates to a process for producing an antibody against glypican-3 (GPC-3) with the use of an MRL/lpr mouse that develops autoimmune diseases.